Scott and Liane Grant

Metro Missionaries to Montréal, Québec, Canada

- ◆ A 365-year old island city on the St. Lawrence River
- ◆ 3.8 million people - 66% are French speaking
- ◆ The most unevangelized area of North America
- ◆ A multicultural city with a growing immigrant population
- ◆ The most university students per capita in North America

Scott and Liane Grant were married in 1988 after graduating from Apostolic Missionary Institute in Oshawa, Ontario. After assisting in two Ontario churches, they pioneered a church in Welland, a city near Niagara Falls with a significant French population.

Scott and Liane have three sons, Josh (age 18), Jared (age 15) and Jonathan (age 12). Throughout their ministry, the Grants have been actively involved in the Ontario District in worship, home missions, youth and children's ministries. Five years ago, they launched a weekend Bible College in Welland, training students from various backgrounds. One graduate has since returned to his home in Zimbabwe, where he has baptized 35 people.

Scott visited Montréal often as a child since his father was born there. Scott and Liane have developed their burden for French ministry by studying with French tutors and translating worship songs and training materials. That burden has culminated in their recent appointment as Metro Missionaries to Montréal. They are going into Québec with a missionary heart, desiring to both plant churches and train labourers for active ministry.
