Anointing in Transition

A wise elder once said, "With every transition there is a fresh anointing!" There is nothing more consistent in the life of a missionary than change. New lives to touch and minister to, new ministries to develop and new cities to reach into.

As of May, capable leaders will be taking care of the day-to-day ministry at International Church which we planted in Montreal's South Shore. Liane and I will move to Trois-Rivières with our sights set on Quebec City. Trois-Rivières (Three Rivers) is a strategic place in so many ways. It sits exactly halfway between Montreal and Quebec City and is the longest existing Quebec UPC church outside of Montreal. We have seen substantial growth there since arriving to oversee the work in the beginning stages of our first term.

Our relocation there will serve to strengthen our language study (nothing like immersion!) and also will allow us to equip a great crop of apostolic French speakers to help us start new churches.

We will then go into Quebec City with trained workers to establish an apostolic presence in Quebec's capital. Sophie, who got saved over the Christmas holidays, has already opened her home for a group Bible study.

It was awesome to host the North American Missions Administrative committee in March here in Montreal! The regional NAM representatives got a first-hand experience of the unique culture and challenge of Quebec. Most attended one of our Quebec churches and ministered over the weekend. The feedback and response from each of them was invaluable to the work moving forward in this missions District. Thanks to each of you for making the trip and for connecting to this needy field!
